DATE SELECTED FOR ASSMC TALK BY BROTHER LEO

March 10 Set For ASSMC Lecture By Brother Leo In San Francisco

Wednesday night, March 10, has been definitely set as the date of a lecture by Brother Leo to be sponsored by the Associated Student Body.

The Community Playhouse, in the Western Women's Club building in San Francisco, will be the scene of the event, with each of its six hundred and forty seats selling at seventy-five cents.

Selection of the Playhouse was made by Wyman Riley, junior representative of the executive council, who has been appointed chairman of the affair by Joe L. Alioto, student body leader.

Brother Leo announced the title of his lecture as "And Every Lass a Queen." It is predicted that the topic will have plenty of human interest and supply a good evening of intellectaul relaxation.

Ticket agencies, according to the chairman, will be set up in both San Francisco and Oakland. In San Francisco Sherman and Clay, Tom Girton, the Community Playhouse, and the Emporium will carry tickets, while Capwell's in Oakland will care for the large east bay following the lecturer is known to have.

But the chairman expects the greater number of tickets to be sold from the campus. Plans are being formulated whereby every student in the college will be included in a scheme to sell every one of the six hundred and forty seats in the Community Playhouse.

An extensive publicity campaign will be inaugurated very shortly. Posters announcing the lectures are to be posted in all parish churches in San Francisco and Oakland. Besides this a thorough canvass will be made of hotels and club buildings.

Riley disclosed that the Market Street Railway has consented to post placards in every street car in its service for six days prior to the lecture.

In an appeal to the student body to support the venture in every possible manner, Riley declared: "The presentation of Brother Leo in San Francisco is a public student body activity, and must be conducted in such a manner as to reflect the greatest amount of credit on Saint Mary's College.

"Every seat in the Community Playhouse is a good seat. The committe confidently anticipates the cooperation of the entire student body to the end that a full house will greet the lecturer when he steps to the platform."

Glee Club Appears On Radio Program

Announcement was made last Wednesday that the Glee Club would next Monday be a feature of "Saint Mary's on the Air," the broadcast coming over station KRE in Berkeley, every Monday at 4:15 p. m.

The Glee Club has been holding regular practices and making public appearances in preparation for these activities. The members cannot appear every Monday, but they will perform at least once a month, on which occasions the usual recordings of "Hail, Saint Mary's" and other alma mater songs will be rendered as well.

Favorable comments are pouring in on the improvement of this year's program over that of last year. The material is the same as before, with Bill Bettencourt and Walt Goldman, the announcers, still giving interesting sidelights concerning recent events on the campus. Walt Goldman interviewed Brother Bernard, moderator of publications, on the subject of "Journalism Today" on last Monday. This is the first of a series of interviews. Every Monday there will be an interview of some faculty member or student of the college, except on those afternoons on which the Glee Club will perform.

Executive Council Draws Purse Strings Tighter

Because of its importance to the student body, support of the Brother Leo Lecture to be held in the Community Playhouse in San Francisco on March 10, was asked by Joe Alioto at the meeting of the Executive Council, Wednesday.

Alioto revealed that it is up to the students to support the lecture and to aid in the sale of tickets for the event. A proposal that a special meeting of the council be held on Monday was approved by the group.

Stating that the expenses incurred during the recent radio talent quest should be paid by the individuals directly concerned, the council refused Dick Vail's request that they pay the costs of the musical arrangements used preparing for the program. It was stated that inasmuch as the participants received some compensation for their work, they should pay all the costs.

At the same time the council put off the request that they give the Glee Club five dollars for future expenses until next week. Dick Vail was instructed to advise the council before he made any further purchases.

Will Aid Red Cross

On the motion of Wyman Riley, the council approved a drive for Flood Relief funds which was held Thursday. Riley and Dick Moore were appointed to conduct the drive and turn the funds over to the Red Cross.

Dominicans To Be Guests Of Officers

Upon the invitation of Joe L. Alioto, the Dominican College student body officers, five in number, will be guests of the campus student officials at a dinner to be held on the campus on Thursday evening, February 18.

The Dominican delegation will be headed by Miss Virginia Lorimier, president of the associated students. In her letter, Miss Lorimier wrote: "We received your very cordial letter and want to express our appreciation for your invitation to attend a dinner on your campus."

Purpose of the dinner is to make final arrangements for the Dominican-Saint Mary's supper dance to be held at the San Rafael college. Conflicting dates have thus far postponed the event two times.

Representing the Saint Mary's student body will be its officers, Joe L. Alioto, Albert Shine, Cornelio Baca, Victor Strub, Elias Welch, and Carl Schuck.

Kordick Represents College In Finals Of California's Hour

With Martin Kordick representing Saint Mary's, the finals of the California's Hour were held last Sunday night in Los Angeles.

Competing against Kordick for the first prize of $100 were Fern Downes, accordion soloist from San Diego State College,; Joe Rapose, tenor from San Jose State; John Garzano, San Francisco University pianist, and a saxophone soloist from Occidental College.

Because of the excellence of all of the contenders, the outcome will not be determined until the end of the voting period. The final results will be known on the campus sometime tomorrow, and will be broadcast Sunday night on the California's Hour at the regular time.

Singing once again "Gypsy Love Song," the rendition of which earned him first place on the Saint Mary's Night program, Kordick gave a fine account of his talents and is accorded an excellent chance to be named the winner of the first prize.

Local K. C.'s Guests Of Berkeley Council

As guests of the Berkeley Council Knights of Columbus, eight members of the local council last Monday evening attended an Italian dinner at Native Son's Hall, Berkeley.

Speakers were: Grand Knight Arthur Wendering of Berkeley, Dan Leary and Bill Dooms. Leary, deputy grand knight spoke for Joseph Alioto who was not able to attend.

Following the dinner a regular business meeting was held.

March 29, the campus council will again travel to Berkeley, taking with them the Glee Club, the four Spirits of Rhythm and several instrumentalists to provide an evening of entertainment for the Berkeley council.

Pictures of last season's best Saint Mary's football games will be exhibited in the student lounge in March, it was revealed this week by Brother Bede Edward, moderator, who is making all arrangements to show the pictures soon after Lent.

Social Committee To Meet Today at Noon

The Social Committee will hold its first meeting of the year today at 12:30, Brother Patrick, chairman of the group announced yesterday.

It is expected that the committee will settle the dates for the entire semester, including the Senior Ball.

Work On Campus Nearly Complete

Planting of Shrubs and Grass In Foreground Planned

Landscape work on the campus foreground will be completed by next fall, according to Reinhold von Wetter, campus landscape engineer.

Von Wetter hopes to sow the large fields to the northwest of Dante and Galileo Halls before the end of the current semester. That next to Galileo was recently sown but the recent rains and cold weather virtually ruined it, and it must be sown again along with the field opposite.

The beds along the edges of the lawn in front of the chapel now contain juniper. These shrubs have proved unsatisfactory, so they will be torn out to be replaced by some form of spreading flower. The shrubs in the beds in the chapel foreground will also be replaced.

Plants Removed

Last Friday's heavy rains washed the soil from the roots of some young pines recently planted south of the baseball diamond. The damage was easily repaired, however, and the extensive planting operations are being resumed.

During the summer, the walk from the railroad station to the tennis courts will be torn out and replaced. The surface of the present walk is in bad condition.

Pre-Med Club Plans For Semester Work

In the initial meeting of the Pre-Med club of the current semester, held last Thursday afternoon, an active program for the remainder of the year was mapped by president Fred Burrows.

Complete plans have not been made yet, but included on the program are several trips by members of the organization to San Francisco and other bay district hospitals including Agnew State Hospital for the mentally deranged, near San Jose. Arrangements are being made also to bring several guest speakers, prominent physicians, to the campus for a series of lectures to the club.

To make final plans a special meeting will be held next Thursday, February 18, in room 133 of the sophomore dormitory. Among other important business, the club constitution will be amended pertaining to the treasury. All members are urged to attend.

UNIVERSAL S. M. NIGHT ON RADIO THURSDAY EVE

Program To Feature Talks By Brother Albert, Brother Leo; To Be State-wide

Headed by Justin Mahoney, the committee in charge of arrangements for the annual Universal Saint Mary's Night this week are attempting to determine as closely as possible the number of alumni dinners to be held on Thursday evening, February 18, the night of the broadcast.

The broadcast will be heard between 9:00 and 9:30 p. m. over station KHJ, Los Angeles and KFRC, San Francisco, of the Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting company.

It has been planned to publicly acknowledge and send greetings to those units listening collectively to the program, and it is believed by the committee every local unit in the principal cities of California will cooperate by meeting in a body.

Featured on the program as principal speakers will be Brother Albert, president of the college; Leo A. Cunningham, president of the alumni association, and Brother Leo. The completion of the plans await notification from the various units.

Universal Saint Mary's Night is an annual affair presented by the college alumni, initiated in 1931 and marked by the celebration of fifteen reunion dinners, three of which were out of state.

It was featured over KFRC of the Columbia network at that time featuring Brother Leo as guest speaker and Dr. Frederick T. West '14, then president of the alumni association. In 1935 the number of reunion dinners had grown to 28, a number to be exceeded this year, it is believed.

DEBATERS PLAN FULL PROGRAM OF ACTIVITIES

Hilken and Co. Will Take On Women Debaters From Stockton

Starting with a return debate with College of the Pacific on the Moraga campus on February 18, in which Saint Mary's will defend the negative of the national labor question, a full debating schedule confronts the varsity squad for the rest of the semester.

The local team has not yet been decided, Manager Kirkham announced.

Hilken To Debate

Most startling news of the whole debate season was the announcement this week that Richard Hilken, terrier pride and long a substantial threat in the open forums which traditionally follow Saint

Prominent Alumnus Killed In Airliner Crash In S. F. Bay

While returning from a business meeting in Los Angeles, John A. Grennan, Sr., of the class of '93 and his daughter, Gertrude, 25, met death in the giant airliner which crashed into San Francisco Bay last Tuesday evening, carrying with it eleven passengers and crew.

Grennan, active in alumni circles, had been connected with the banking and real estate business in the bay district since 1895. He was 62 years of age, and a member of San Francisco Council No. 615 of the Knights of Columbus.

He will long be remembered on the campus as the donator of the statue of the Blessed Virgin in the niche above the main entrance to the chapel, and the shrine erected in Justin Grove.

Grennan's two sons, John A., Jr., prominent Oakland attorney and Democrat leader, and Paul J. of Los Angeles, were both formerly members of the student body.

Plans Are Made For Annual Homecoming

The large committee of alumni necessary to arrange a full program of activities for the Saint Mary's annual Homecoming Day, scheduled for Sunday, April 4, was this week partially selected from the various bay district groups by chairman Frank Atwell of Oakland.

Although still early, advance information indicated that this year's Homecoming would be the largest the campus has seen for several years. As is the custom, the campus and all college facilities are to be at the disposal of the alumni, and the program will be arranged to make it a day long remembered by them.

A special Mass for the early arrivals will be celebrated in the college chapel by Father Bowling, college chaplain, followed by breakfast in the dining hall.

Communism To Be Topic Of Forum

Local Orators To Open Up On Red Menace Wednesday

Headed by Wyman Riley, campus politicians will again swing into action, not against each other, but in a common cause—a concentrated attack against Communism in the lounge Wednesday evening, February 17.

Riley, acting as chairman, will introduce to the audience Joe Alioto, student body president, who will give his general view on Communism; Fred Burrows, sophomore class president, presenting the case for Communism; Dan O'Hara on "Methods of Communism," and Ed LaBerge explaining the position of the Catholic church in regard to Communism. Alioto and Laberge are both members of the varsity debate squad.

The Forum is the first public demonstration given on the campus of the "Crusade Against Communism" inaugurated last week by the National Council of the Knights of Columbus, and is being sponsored by the local unit of the organization. Open discussion will follow the prepared speeches.

All arrangements including selection of the chairman for the evening were made by Bill Dooms and Bob Mark, with Riley aiding in securing speakers.

A near capacity audience is expected at the Wednesday night forum.

Veteran Brother Is Buried On Monday

Funeral services for Brother Felan were held in the Saint Mary's High chapel at ten o'clock Monday. The solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated by Father Joseph B. Renault, assistant pastor at Saint Monica's Church in San Francisco and a former student of Brother Felan. The Student Brother's Choir of the campus sang the Mass.

Brother Patrick was present as the representative of Brother Albert, who was unable to be present due to his Los Angeles trip.

Brother Felan, who died in San Francisco on February 4, had been a Brother for fifty years and had taught at Mission Dolores and Saint Peter's High in San Francisco, Saint Joseph's Academy, Saint Mary's High, and Christian Brothers' High in Sacramento.

Four Students to Make KC Weekend Retreat

Four more Saint Mary's students will make the trek to El Retiro San Inigo, this weekend, making the second closed retreat group to go from the campus to the Jesuit retreat house during the spring semester, Victor Wilkiemeyer, chairman of the Catholic Action committee of the Knights of Columbus, announced this week.

Anthony Falkenstein, Bill Simon, William Kirkham and William McLean compose the group leaving the campus Thursday afternoon and returning Monday morning.

NEGOTIATIONS REOPENED BY COMMITTEE OF BONDHOLDERS REGARDING DEBT SETTLEMENT

Bondholders Threaten Foreclosure If No Agreement Is Reached On Payment

Latest step in the series of negotiations between administrative authorities of Saint Mary's and the bondholders was taken this week when the protective committee of the latter group issued a letter to all bondholders setting March 15 as the deadline for bondholders to deposit bonds with the committee.

Reporting that over $1,000,000 of the outstanding $1,370,500 worth of bonds have already been deposited with it by the bondholders, the committe once more threatened the college with foreclosure unless a satisfactory agreement is reached.

Offer Rejected

The committee revealed that they had received an offer of forty cents on the dollar from the college authorities which they had rejected as inadequate.

It is known that the committee offered to take approximately 70 cents on the dollar last fall, when their first letter to the bondholders calling in the bonds was marked by a flurry of publicity. This offer was rejected by the college as exorbitant.

The balance sheet for the college for the last six months of 1936 shows a net profit of $59,541, which would be turned into a net loss of $18,631 for the full year if the interest on the bonds, amounting to about 6 per cent, were paid.

The flurry of publicity which this week linked Coach Madigan's name to the situation resulted from the fact that the college had paid Madigan some $30,000 in back debts. The bondholders felt that they should have received any money which was forthcoming.

The negotiations are expected to be brought to an end in the near future, when both parties reach an agreement concerning a satisfactory percentage of return on the dollar.

Economic Professor To Give Trade Lecture

Professor Frank Bain, of the school of Economics, will speak on the subject "International Trade and Reciprocal Trade Agreements," next Tuesday afternoon, February 16, over station KFRC, the fifth Saint Mary's instructor to be heard on the Radio University series.

The Radio University series will continue to feature members of the faculty of Saint Mary's on alternating weeks, the contract extending until the 15th of June.

Sacred Heart Seniors Hear Dr. Hagerty

On Tuesday of last week Professor James L. Hagerty addressed the graduating class of Sacred Heart College High School in San Francisco in conjunction with the new student drive.

Professor Hagerty reported that a great deal of interest had been shown by the students, and he has promised to make a series of three visits in order that he may have personal interviews with the large number of students who have quested them.

Brother Cornelius Urges Bufano Work Be Scrapped

A recommendation that the Bufano statue of Saint Francis, recently accepted by the City of San Francisco amid much civic strife, be "scrapped" and sent into oblivion, was made yesterday by Brother Cornelius, head of the college art department, in an interview to the Collegian.

Brother Cornelius

In discussing the controversy which has been rocking the art circles of San Francisco, Brother Cornelius declared that the decision as to whether or not the statue should be accepted was made by one man, the mayor, and therefore it can hardly be said that the city of San Francisco voted to accept the work.

The college art head emphasized the fact that Mayor Rossi of San Francisco had no desire to cast the deciding vote in the matter, and that when he was finally cornered and forced to vote he acted for the acceptance of the work, but with the reservation or condition that the city be given the right to modify the statue.

Brother Cornelius believes that it would be for the best interests of the city if the statue were discarded because it is unnatural, awkward, and does not, even at a distance, express the character of Saint Francis.

He continued by saying that Saint Francis, as depicted by Bufano, would serve to give the people of San Francisco a false impression of the man after which their city is named.

Artist Gives Own Impression

Continuing, the art head maintains that the impressions of an artist do not always do justice to the subject which he is attempting to depict or reproduce.

He said, "The impressions and feelings of an artist depend upon his personal make-up, convictions, education and principles. These impressions and feelings may be unsound, unnatural, and untrue to the real character of the subject the artist is handling."

Brother Cornelius added that he believes that the type of art personified by Bufano's statue of Saint Francis represents a trend in art, and also the impression of the individual.

In criticizing this form of art, the campus art authority said, "That trend is not indicative that 'Art is marching forward' as Bufano says. His particular art would be like the archaic art of ancient Olympia if the figures were portrayed with more intelligence."

Brother Cornelius remarked that a main source of the failures in this type of art is that 90 per cent who follow that trend—a trend towards primitive and archaic simplicity of expression in this case—lack the genius that is necessary to handle such highly simplified forms of expression.

CONFERENCE CHAMPIONSHIP MAY BE DECIDED AT SAN JOSE

ON TO VICTORY...

Here are two of the Gaels who will be seeking a win over the Santa Clara Broncos tonight when the traditional rivals clash in the second tilt of their annual Big Game series at the Civic Auditorium. "SWEDE" ANDERSEN, All-Coast candidate, and LARRY MINAHEN, recent spark of Gael attacks, will be in the starting lineup.

SAINT MARY'S MEETS SANTA CLARA IN CRUCIAL GAME AT SAN JOSE MUNICIPAL COURT

Y. M. I. Tangles With Gaels Tomorrow Night In Charity Game In San Francisco

With the championship of the California Intercollegiate Conference virtually at stake, Saint Mary's and Santa Clara meet in a semi-final loop tilt at the San Jose Civic Auditorium court tonight.

A win for the Broncs over the Gaels will cinch the title for them, the Santa Clarans having won six league tussles in as many starts. Victory for the Moragans will throw the league into a tie, Saint Mary's and Santa Clara each then having a record of six triumphs and one defeat.

Both teams have one more conference game to play, the Bell Ringers meeting San Jose Spartans next Wednesday night in the Spartan gym, and the Mission Town collegians tackling the University of San Francisco Dons one week from tomorrow at Kezar Pavilion across the bay.

If Saint Mary's beats George Barsi's Peninsula cagers, a third non-conference game will be played to determine the winner of the annual series. If Jim Underhill's lads beat San Jose, and if Santa Clara trims the Dons, the third Big Game between the Gaels and Broncos, to be played on a neutral court, also will decide the first championship of the California Intercollegiate loop.

Four More Games

After tonight's fracas, the Silken Saints will play four more games before calling it a season. Tomorrow night at San Francisco's Civic Auditorium the Gaels clash with the Y. M. I. in a game for the benefit of the crippled children of San Francisco.

Already billed to meet San Jose Wednesday, Saint Mary's will play another game next week, probably Friday, in Madigan Gym, according to Underhill. The last game will be played in Los Angeles on February 24, Wednesday, with the University of Loyola Lions.

LEAGUE OPENER WITH BRONCOS

2 More Practice Tilts On Schedule of Phoenix

But two practice games remain to be played before the Phoenix opens the conference race against Santa Clara on Sunday, February 21 at the Seals' Stadium in San Francisco.

Although Saint Mary's is billed to meet the Super Shells tomorrow and the Orinda Reds Sunday, both games have been cancelled because of the current rains, Coach Earl Sheely announced late yesterday.

During the coming week the 1937 edition of the Phoenix will meet the Kenny All-Stars on Thursday, and the Pacific Greyhound nine on Saturday. Both games will be played on the local diamond.

When the curtain is rung-up on the conference battle on Sunday at Seals' Stadium, the ever-helping hand of the Saint Mary's Club will again be very much in evidence. The move to bring the game to San Francisco was inaugurated by the club since the San Francisco location is more accessible and will, therefore, give the members of the organization a chance to see the ball club that they brought back to life, in action.

If the attendance at the Santa Clara game is large enough the Stanford and Southern California games will be played in the trans-bay stadium.

Track Scheduled to Have Better Place on 1937 Moraga Athletic Program

Saint Mary's Club Will Help Cinder Athletes By Repairing James M. Smith Oval In Near Future

Track will have a bigger and better place on the Saint Mary's athletic program this spring than it ever has had in the past, Graduate Manager Bill Smith announced today. More equipment will be available for the use of the cindermen.

The Saint Mary's Club, one of the college's strongest backers, is in possession of $1,500 which was cleared in a football exhibition last spring. The purpose of the event was to gather enough funds to repair the local track, and to purchase much needed track equipment.

As yet the college has not received any of the money, because the club feels it is advisable that they handle the work themselves. Negotiations are now under way by the club to find the suitable contractor for the job. It is expected that shortly after the rain drops off a bit, actual work will start.

Hurdles This Season

Material for hurdles was donated last year. The timber will be placed in operation for the first time this season. Up until the present time, the hurdle events were always missing in the annual inter-class track meet.

As usual the annual class event is planned. There is a possibility that there will be more than one meet, as there was last year. The present senior class, led by Ned O'Laughlin, is the defending champion.

TENNIS STARTS

Gael Net Players Will Be Ranked For Loop Play

A series of tennis matches will be played during the next few weeks to determine the six players to oppose the University of San Francisco net team in the first engagement of the newly formed California Intercollegiate League.

At a meeting Wednesday, conducted by Dick Schuman, it was decided that the best means for ranking the various Gael tennis aspirants would be to formulate a pyramid set-up.

Thus, players ranked low on the pyramid may advance to a higher ranking by challenging and defeating one of the two players rated above them.

Those who most consistently win their matches and maintain top position until March 4, will open conference play. Players will be allowed a week in which to issue or defend a challenge.

Conference Rules Cited

The conference has issued various rules of competition and demands of eligibility which were cited at Wednesday's meeting, two of which are: (1) Participant is allowed four years of intercollegiate tennis competition; (2) A year of ineligibility is placed on a transfer from another institution.

Schuman obtained the names of the following players who signified intentions of competing in the coming challenge matches: Prentiss Monson, Bill de Puni, Taay, Taira, Dan Deevy, Bill Glackin, George McPeake, Harry Hooper, Bob Fleitz, Bob Arnold, Bill Davie and Carl Schuck.

PHOENIX LOSE 1, WIN TWO GAMES

Mission Reds, Seals, Fall Before Gaels

With only a very few days of actual practice behind them, the Phoenix went to work this week and turned in a showing that marks them with possibilities of becoming an outstanding aggregation, one that might do a lot in deciding superiority in the California Intercollegiate Conference.

Playing three games this week, the Phoenix turned the tables on the Mission Reds and the Kennealy Seals, but lost a tough one to the Valva Realty, 3 to 2, in Monday's opener.

The Phoenix showed up very strong Monday, although being decisioned in the eighth frame by a two-run rally put on by Bud Hafey, Red Kress and Sulik, all organized baseball stars. Jack Flanagan started on the mound, and Bill Bourne received his shoots behind the plate. Bob O'Brien relieved Flanagain in the fifth and did equally well, allowing but four hits in five innings, the same number Flanagan had allowed.

Saint Mary's started the ball rolling in the second inning when Babe Barsotti singled and Sullivan doubled to score Barsotti. Stolich then forced Sullivan at third, but the scoring was not yet completed as Bill Miller laced out a three bagger to score Stolich, and the Gaels were out in front with a two run lead. They were not headed until the eighth inning.

The eighth inning started off in good order with Barsotti and Sullivan each collecting a single, but the next three batters went down by way of the strike-out route, and then the Valva Stars went to work.

Valva scored one in the third when singles were smacked by Bud Hafey, Sulik and Kress. The same crew of fence busters went to work in the eighth and won the ball game for the visitors. Sullivan led the Phoenix batters by collecting three bingles in the same number of trips to the plate. Murphy hit two for three, and Barsotti, two for four.

REDS BEATEN

On Tuesday the Gaels chalked up their first victory of the season at the expense of the Mission Red Rookies, 3 to 2. The game progressed on even terms until the fifth when Saint Mary's went out ahead with a four-run rally.

OVER SANTA CLARA

And here are two more Bell Ringers who hope to ring the hoop for plenty of points tonight. Captain BILL (ROCKET) ROCKWELL and GERRY SPURCK, seniors, will be playing their final fracas against the Mission Town collegians. Santa Clara, victor of the initial contest by a 48 to 35 count, is favored to win.

SENIOR REDS LEAD INTRAMURAL RACE WITH TWO WINS AND NO DEFEATS; BLUES IN DEADLOCK

Last-Year Red Quintet Boasts It Will Capture Loop Championship; Google Terriers On Warpath

Led by Harry Aronson, who rang the hoop for a total of 10 points, the Junior Blues last night pinned back the ears of the Freshmen Blues, 33 to 25, in the final intramural game of the week.

Willie Bourne and Warren Jenkins each tanked eight points for the winners.

Leading the pack in the Red division of the loop are the seniors with two wins and no defeats. In the Blue class, the seniors and juniors are tied with one victory and one rebuff.

With five games scheduled for next week, the third of the current intramural season, many interesting sidelights are being cast upon the scene of action.

Heading the list from the standpoint of competitive hopes is the new boast of the Senior Reds that they will undoubtedly win the championship. Several members of the team have stated the senior class will probably be forced to divide itself in the finals of the pennant chase if the students wish to witness any sort of a game.

Retaliating against these rather rash statements, the other classes, led by the ever present Google Terriers, have given notice that they will contest any and all rights that the seniors hold to the mythical throne.

Led by Lew Baysinger, the mightiest midget of them all, the juniors won out by a score of 27 to 20. Baysinger was high point man of the victors with a total of ten digits resting in the column following his name. Top men of the frosh were Brusotti and Sinnot, each of them garnering four points.

The second game of the week featured the Senior Blues playing the frosh team of the same color Tuesday and, incidentally, making them feel rather "blue," when the final score was announced in favor

Did you notice "Toughy" Gleason making up for his lack of height by taking high point honors with a record of 22 points for one game?

Did you see "Gondola" Brusotti using one of his shoes to paddle across the "lake" in front of the gym? Even then he was late for the game.

And did you spot Carl "Neck" Schuck playing a swell floor game against the sophomores? Yes siree, he came up with half the floor, or did half the floor come up to meet him?

Lew Baysinger seems to be jack of all trades. From camera-man to baseball manager; from baseball manager to sports writer, and then to the hardwood, where he cavorts for McIntyre's "little giants." And a good job he does of them all.

The combination of Greenlaw and Burrows seems to click fairly well. Greenlaw does all the work, and Burrows gets all the credit.

GAEL GOSSIP

By BILL BETTENCOURT
(Sports Editor The Collegian)

SOME are still chuckling over Texas University's signing of Dana Bible for the "little" sum of $15,000 per year, plus a bonus of $25,000, to coach the varsity gridders of the Lone Star state university.

Please include us in that group of chucklers. Good Old Texas U. must have discovered a gold mine in a basement of one of the Texas frats. Because NO coach in the country deserves $15,000 per year. Such a sum is ridiculous.

Which brings us to our own situation. Here we are paying Slip Madigan, the GREATEST showman of the game and ONE of the best grid mentors, a similar chunk of sugar. If we find it logical to ridicule Texas U., many more are the people who have a right to deride Saint Mary's.

After all, Texas, a large institution, is in a much better position than Saint Mary's to pay a "faculty" member such a crazy figure. Saint Mary's doesn't do herself any good by paying such a lump of sweetness to the GREATEST showman in the business.

Madigan's contract terminates at the end of this season. We are against the signing of another contract which reads the same as the one which expires this year.

We are by no means insinuating that Madigan's contract should not be renewed. On the contrary! We are merely suggesting that another identical legal tie should not be signed.

If the college has more money to spend on athletics, how about giving basketball, baseball, and track a little help?

The students of this college do NOT want Saint Mary's to be popularly recognized merely as a one-sport school, as she was known at one time. And that is just what Saint Mary's is leading to once again.

"Something MUST be done" we wrote two weeks ago. That sentence still holds good today!

Fighting Gaels Are S. M. Club Members

Best example of the true Fighting Gael spirit is displayed by the Saint Mary's Club, a truly unique organization consisting of true friends of Saint Mary's who never attended the college.

This club has done more during its short history for the college than any other group. If the Phoenix has risen to old time heights during recent years, and if they capture the championship of the conference this season, no little thanks should be given this excellent body of Gael fans and SUPPORTERS.

If it were not for the Saint Mary's Club, the Phoenix would still be one of the contenders for the cellar title.

The Saint Mary's Club also has started the ball rolling towards organizing a track squad.

More power to the Fighting Gaels of the Saint Mary's Club. Saint Mary's College needs more of their kind.

GAEL GOLF MEN PREPARE FOR CAMPAIGN

Team to Consist of Six or More Players, Says Smith

Tutored by Bill Smith, co-holder of the course record at Ingleside Country club, the Gael golf team will consist of a group of six or more collegiate divot diggers. This fact was announced by Smith yesterday as the result of a meeting held on Wednesday, February 10, to discuss future plans.

Among the definite members already selected to represent Saint Mary's on the fairways are Wally Bensen, who is now a junior and a transfer from Colorado College; Bill Glackin and Bill Dooms; Fred Burrows and Harry Cahalan, both of the soph class and residents of Washington; Eddie Burns, a resident of Monterey and son of the great Burns of catching fame. Burns was one of the best junior golfers in the state a few years ago and will undoubtedly be a great aid in bringing new honors to the college. Al Shine, who is vice president of the student body and president of the executive council, will also be one of the Gael baffy wielders.

Smith, who will act as coach as well as play with the team, announced that there are still openings for any potential golfers and that the above list is not yet completed.

FRESNO, Feb. 12.—Twenty-two varsity football players and 25 freshmen will receive awards at Fresno State College for their services during the 1936 season, the board of athletic control announced this week. The varsity completed a successful season, during which they faced football teams from five western states. Besides California teams, the Bulldogs met squads from Nevada, Arizona, Texas and Oregon.

Beat Stockton Preps, 30-21, Meet Colts In Prelim

Tonight the Gaelets journey to San Jose to encounter the Santa Clara babes. Already victorious once over the local frosh, the Gaelets are now in form and hope to revenge the past defeat. Mistakes which were made in the last game have been corrected and the frosh are rarin' to go.

Exhibiting a snap and sparkle in their playing, the Gaelets drubbed Saint Mary's High of Stockton, 30 to 21, Tuesday night, keeping the game well under control with short, quick passes, and capitalizing on close-in shots for goals.

This game marked a noticeable change in the freshmen's performance. Instead of their usual loose type of playing, the Gaelets dominated the game with steady, cool playing. Alternating with a fast and slow break, they commanded the contest.

Jim Boyd and Norman McPhail intercepted passes, fed their teammates for set-up shots, and gave stellar performances. Tom Feeney sank 10 points to head the scorers.

GAELS LOSE TO CALIFORNIA BEARS

Bob Duffy Rallies to Aid Cause of Pricemen

In one of the most exciting basketball games played this year, the Saint Mary's varsity went down to defeat last Saturday night to the Golden Bears at California gym by a score of 32 to 31.

The first half of the game found Saint Mary's holding a slight edge over the Bears, 13 to 11.

The opening of the second period saw the Gaels push into the lead on baskets by Bill Rockwell, Al Andrade and "Swede" Andersen.

Nibs Price rushed in his first string men, and they closed a 12-point lead in less than five minutes.

With the score 31 to 19 in favor of the Gaels, Bob Duffy, California forward, sank five field goals in rapid succession. Captain Ray Balsey accounted for three points, and Bob Carlisle sank the winning field goal with but 30 seconds to play.

POOL TOURNEY

Annual Play Billed to Begin Within Next Few Days

Chalk up your cues, gentlemen, because in just about a week's time the 1937 campus pool tournament will get under way, it was announced yesterday.

The tournament will be divided into two divisions, the winner of first being pitted against the winner of the second for the championship. The comprising the first division will be the "day dogs," and those of the second division will be the "bashful boarders."

According to Walt Foudy, who is the tournament manager, the prize will be a gold-mounted eight ball, with the winner's name engraved on a side.

Last year's winner, who will defend his title this year, is Richard Hester, a sophomore, and also a "day dog." Hester, who swings a mean cue, will be in there battling for the honor of his class, he said.

To those who have not yet signed up and wish to do so, they are asked to see Walt Foudy in the pool room.

SHEELY DENIES STAR QUITS SCHOOL

Phoenix Heavy Hitter to Be Back on Monday

Rumors that James Robertson, Phoenix outfielder, had signed a contract with the Washington Senators of the American League precipitated by his absence from the Saint Mary's lineup this week were branded as false by Coach Earl Sheely today.

Robertson, a junior, played the first bag during his freshman and sophomore years, but because of Al Fleckenstein and Bill Murphy handling the post this season, Robertson's hitting power prompted Sheely to shift him to the outfield.

Sheely said he had received word from Robertson at his home in Stockton, saying he had two infected teetth which were being removed this week. He expects to return to college next Monday.

Mention that you saw it advertised in The Collegian.

sharp single and was sacrificed to second. He scored when Murphy singled to right. Webber singled to score Murphy and then stole second. Barsotti walked and Sullivan was hit by a pitched ball. Barsotti scored on a fielders choice when Stolich hit to short.

The Phoenix scored their final two runs in the sixth frame when Warren Jenkins and Bob Morey walked, and Murphy cracked out a long double to send them home. The mound duties were taken over by Merrill and Jenkins who, between them, allowed the Missions only four hits. Murphy led the Gaels with two bingles in three trips, one going for two bases.

The Reds scored their two runs in the eighth when the Gaels showed signs of going ragged. Anderson singled and Moreing walked. Morey threw Selby's ground ball wide, and Anderson scored. Then, on a pass ball, Moreing scampered in from third. Both runs, however, were unearned.

SEALS NEXT

On Wednesday, the Phoenix showed they had the power to come from behind, if needed, when they came to bat in the last inning with the score 7 to 4 against them, and then put on their hitting togs and won the ball game 8 to 7. The Gaels wasted no time in getting at the Seals as they scored one in the first. Fleckenstein singled and Webber met one of Hines' fast balls, lacing it for a triple.

The Seals scored three in the third as Jennings, Holder, and Berger singled and Kress doubled. This did not stop the local boys as they tied it all up in their half of the inning.

The big rally came in the last canto with Stolich leading off with a double. Miller and Mike Perrie followed with singles to score Stolich. Morey walked, filling the bases, and Al Fleckenstein singled to right to tie the score as Miller and Perrie scored. Webber was then purposely walked and, with one out and Morey on third, Barsotti lifted a long fly to center. Morey scored the winning run after the catch.

COOPERATION OF ALUMNI, FRIENDS NEEDED BY GAEL

Editor Lawrence Mana Seeks Aid From Alumni, SM Club and Friends

In order to make the 1937 GAEL successful, a greater number of alumni, members of the Saint Mary's Club, and friends of the college must interest themselves in this cultural project undertaken by the Junior Class, according to Lawrence Mana, editor.

"While the student body here at Saint Mary's is small and limited, cooperation by all the forces vitally interested in Saint Mary's College and its undertakings will more than compensate for any hardship that the staff must meet by the limited enrollment.

"With alumni numbering into the thousands, members of the Saint Mary's Club numbering over six hundred and a host of friends of the college to support our work, success will be virtually assured if these forces be but lightly tapped," Mana said.

SM Club Cooperates

The first step of this much needed cooperation was shown with the announcement that Dr. Dan Murphy, treasurer of the Saint Mary's Club had undertaken the task of interesting the members of the Saint Mary's Club in this journalistic endeavor of the junior class.

Already the cooperation of the Saint Mary's Club has spread a ray of hope and with similar cooperation on the part of the alumni association and the other friends of the college, not only will the 1937 GAEL be successful but it will supercede the record of any other year book in Saint Mary's history.

To facilitate members of the Saint Mary's Club, the alumni association and the other friends assuring themselves of receiving their 1937 GAEL they need but fill the blank on page 5 of this week's issue of the Saint Mary's Collegian, enclose it together with $3.50 and mail to Finance Editor, THE 1937 GAEL, Saint Mary's College, California, and their copy will be reserved and mailed to them immediately upon publication.

"Not only will they be cooperating with the junior class," stated Karl Orth, junior class president, "but they will be assuring themselves of receiving a book truly picturing the spirit of Saint Mary's College in all its activities and all its manifestations. Many pleasant surprises and many hours of enjoyment are in store for persons who will avail themselves of this opportunity."

Three Students Are In Salesian Revue

Three members of the Saint Mary's student body figured prominently in a dramatic presentation given at the Milano Theater in San Francisco last Monday evening by Salesians Boys' Club. They were Lawrence Mana, Joe I. Alioto and Joe L. Alioto. Joe I. Alioto is a singer with the group, while his cousin played a violin solo. Mana was the manager of the performance.

The production, a musical revue featuring the well-known Salesian orchestra and its corps of boy entertainers, played before a capacity house of 1200 spectators.

Saint Mary's College was represented in the audience by Edward Smiddy, member of the English department and drama critic for the "Monitor," Edward Nevin , John Soares, John Valentini, senior students, and Phil Isham of the junior class.

After the production the Saint Mary's group was entertained in the club rooms of the Salesian Boys' Club. The boys were introduced to Mr. F. Gordon O'Neill, editor of the "Monitor" by Mr. Smiddy. Mr. O'Neill thought the show very good and complimented the Saint Mary's men for their part in it.

SENIOR SKETCH

By LAURENCE MANA

For the most part, it's generally pretty hard to write a senior sketch. This week, however, the sketch writes itself, for with George Murphy as subject, no further inspiration is needed. We may not do justice to George, but it's simple to say a lot about him.

George Murphy

George is another good mick, lived in San Francisco all his life, and entered Saint Mary's four years ago from Sacred Heart College. Since his entrance, Moraga Valley has been getting greener, and the college more famous.

Don't blame the bondholders on George, though. In his freshman year, George was secretary of the class — the famous class of '37. Starting out as an honor student in his first year, George managed to stay on the college rolls of honor for the rest of his career.

Once a prominent member of the Alpha Rho Omegas, George modestly, and with a voice tinged with regret, states that he was "thrun out."

Since that time, if there ever was such a date in G's history, he has been Saint Mary's demon operator, sticking to his post during the recent flood for hours on end. If George can't get you, the saying goes, you aren't here. Patience and perseverance are the dominating notes in his make-up.

Murph, who has meticulously avoided politics ever since his freshman year, is not a "joiner" in any sense of the word. His only club activity is the Economics Society, but his prominence in that group makes up for any others he doesn't belong to. In fact, Murphy's main interest in college has been, as he himself modestly states, "appreciation of the ahts," with the "r" carefully softened.

George Murphy has gained the respect of each and every Saint Mary's man who has ever had any dealings with him.

He has been a credit to his famous class, to Saint Mary's College, and to the greatest of all races, the Irish. It is with sincere feeling of deep regret that we say good-bye to George Murphy. The best wishes of every man who knows you go with you — the best of luck, you black Irisher.

Debaters Plan For Full Semester Of Forensic Meetings

Mary's debates, will attempt his first debate on March 18 against a team of senior women from the College of Pacific.

Question will be, "Resolved: that Saint Mary's should become coeducational." Hilken and a teammate whose identity is not yet known will defend the affirmative of the question. A packed house is expected.

The local varsity will meet the Stanford debaters on February 23, defending the negative of the British Broadcasting question. This is the same question which was argued with San Quentin last semester.

Idaho To Be Met

On February 25 or 26, a team from the University of Idaho will visit the campus to argue the negative of the national labor question. The debate will be held in the afternoon.

The Idaho team consists of Lewis Orland and Bill Lee. They will be met by Earl Fleming and Walton Goldman.

Manager Kirkham announced that debates with both the California varsity and freshman teams, as well as with the University of Washington, have been scheduled. Dates have not yet been settled.

Successful Prom Given By Junior Class On Friday

Colorful Terrace Room At Fairmont Hotel In S. F. Is Setting For Affair

Fulfilling every expectation of the junior class, the 1937 Junior Prom last week was termed the most successful formal ball to have been given in recent seasons.

Held in the colorful Terrace Ballroom of the Fairmont Hotel atop Nob Hill in San Francisco, the affair was as unique as it was adjudged successful. The ballroom adjoined the popular Fairmont Plunge enabling dancers to sit at tables beside the plunge and yet be in on the party in the main ballroom. The entertainment was provided by Gene Englander's popular twelve-piece band, whose ability to "swing and sentiment" was greatly responsible for the pronounced success of the affair.

Favors Presented

Particularly oustanding among the many surprises of the evening was the presentation of a distinctive type of favor. Neat bronze two-place compacts, each with a small seal of the college in the center of the cover, were given to each couple as they entered. Approximately 150 couples attended, revealed the chairman of the committee, Joe Hurley.

The committee in charge which aided class president Karl Orth in making arrangements, was compose of Joe Hurley, Charles Noble, William Bourne, Ed LaBerge, Willis Buck, Carl Dallosta and John Madden.

The patrons in attendance were Brother Patrick, Mr. Edward Smiddy, Father Bowling, Claude T. Silva and Dr. Louis Le Fevre.

PRESIDENT IS ON GOODWILL TOUR OF SOUTHLAND

San Joaquin Valley, Los Angeles Are Visited On Trip By Brother Albert

Cheered by the spirit of cooperation displayed by the alumni he contacted on his southern journey, Brother Albert, president of the college, today was looking forward to the continuation of his good will tour in the vicinity of Los Angeles.

Since last Wednesday, when the president arrived in Los Angeles, the full strength of the student drive has been directed at the attainment of maximum results in Southern California, since favorable action in the Los Angeles metropolitan region, combined with the results obtained elsewhere, would virtually assure the complete success of the campaign.

Visits Neighboring Cities

While in Los Angeles Brother Albert has met many alumni of the school, and has conferred with those who have been appointed committeemen in that city. Much of the president's time has been devoted to the fulfillment of speaking dates arranged by either the local committee or the campus campaign office.

Using the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles as his headquarters, the president has spent several days furthering the campaign in the cities of Pasadena, Long Beach, Hollywood, Glendale, and other important towns situated near Los Angeles.

Brother Albert has also devoted a large portion of his time to meeting the parents of prospective students, meeting the students themselves, and other personal contact work that is so vital in efforts of this type.

Departing from the campus Friday morning, Brother Albert was enthusiastically received as he made his scheduled stops at the important towns along the valley route. On Friday he stopped at Modesto, and Turlock, where he met Armand Seghetti, former Gael star on the gridiron; and then halts were called at Atwater, Merced and Madera, where members of the alumni were contacted.

Saturday and Sunday were passed in Fresno, where Brother Albert maintained his headquarters in a local hotel, meeting alumni from the entire countryside, who came to see the president as the result of appointments made through the campus office of the drive.

From Fresno the president continued to Visalia, Tulare, and Bakersfield, spending Tuesday night in the oil town. While in Bakersfield, Brother Albert spoke with Joseph Franey, alumni member in charge of the campaign in that city. Leaving Bakersfield early Wednesday morning, the president was in Los Angeles in time to establish headquarters and open the campaign there.

At the present time it is the intention of Brother Albert to return by the same route which he used in going south, however, there is a possibility that the return trip will be made over the coast route.

If Brother Albert returns by the valley route it will be necessary that he make another trip later in the month to contact the many important towns along the coast. In all probability the president will decide to visit the coast towns later in the month, since the importance of the valley towns is great enough to justify a follow-up.

Brother Albert is scheduled to return to the campus on Monday, February 15th. In the meantime the campaign which the president inaugurated in Northern California has been continued. During the past week members of the faculty have spoken before high school audiences of the bay area.

HIGHLIGHTS ... of ... SCIENCE

By BILL GLACKIN

BLIND STAGGERS

To many people the mention of blind staggers conjures up a more or less hazy picture of a more or less hazy drunk wobbling from place to place. Actually, blind staggers is a disease somewhat similar to alkali sickness and "loco" which attacks only live stock.

This often deadly disease is caused, it has been recently found, by the presence of selenium salts in the earth. Plants in dry regions absorb the poisonous salts in varying amounts; cattle and other live stock which eat the plants sicken and often die.

The possibility of the salts affecting men is extremely remote, scientists have found. It could be realized only if man subsisted solely on what he raised on his own land. That is a very rare situation today.

GLANDS AND CANCER

A hitherto univestigated aspect of the fight against cancer has been thrown open to study by well-known researcher, J. Halsey Bagg, M. D., of New York.

By chemically irritating the sex organs of fowl with zinc chloride during the normal seasonal influence of the sex glands, Dr. Bagg produced fast-growing, malignant tumors or cancers of the organs. The chloride did not produce these results, however, unless the glands were active, or unless a substitute for the hormones produced by the glands were added.

This definitely points to the fact that the pituitary gland plays a part in the production of cancers of this type, and may lead to discoveries regarding the relation of this gland to other types of cancer.

Which naturally leads into the discoveries of three doctors of the U. S. Public Health Service in the field of cancer tissues.

While emphasizing the fact that the method cannot be used on human cancer, the doctors announced that they had successfully checked the growth of cancer tissue in mice by feeding them a diet deficient in cystine and lycine, two amino-acids which are indispensible to the growth of all tissue proteins.

Knowledge of cancer tissue gained from such experiments may measurably help in the fight against human cancer, in spite of the fact that the method itself cannot be applied to human beings.

Student Ex Council Refuses Money Plea

Announcement was made that the proposed clips for the papers in the lounge would cost six dollars. On motion of Ralph Jack, the council appropriated the money.

A report made by the committee appointed to study the installation of the Saint Mary's exhibit used at the San Diego Fair was under advisement and the matter was put off until next week.

The much discussed problem of paying for the rooters hats lost last year was permanently dropped because the council deemed that they were not responsible for the hats as they were not sold as a student body sponsored function.

A committee consisting of Ethelbert Nevin and Joe Alioto was appointed to petition Brother Albert to change the Stations of the Cross from Wednesday to Tuesday. Students would be enabled to attend Benediction as well as the Stations on the latter day, it was pointed out.

of the seniors, 34 to 16. Schuman led the senior basketeers with a total of 14 points, while Lucas managed to find the hoop three times to gain high point honors for the frosh.

Seniors Whip Sophs

The score of 42 to 27 indicates the manner by which the seniors proceeded to mete punishment to the over-confident sophomore quintet Wednesday.

GAELS vs. BRONCS

Still clinging to the belief that his cagers, when playing their best game, can beat any team on the Pacific Coast with the possible exception of Mighty Stanford, Underhill can't understand his players. The Gaels have dropped their last two-games by one-point margins, California and the Athens Club both winning by 33 to 32 scores.

Gaels Drop First

The Barsimen ran away with the first game, the Gaels losing, 48 to 35. This year the Broncs are enjoying one of the best basketball season in Santa Clara's history. Only California has been able to beat the Missionites, and the Bears did the trick twice.

Captain Bill Rockwell and Larry Minahen, forwards; "Swede" Andersen, center, and Ken Meitz and Al Andrade, guards, will be Saint Mary's starters. Sam Anderson and Nick Radunich, forwards; Ed Nelson, center, and Pat Heffernan and Charlie Bannon, guards, probably will take the floor for Santa Clara.

Saint Mary's Club

PHOENIX—For the first time in several years, Saint Mary's Phoenix baseball team will open the playing season as a leading contender for the championship of the California Intercollegiate Baseball Association.

With practically an all-veteran team fortified by several fine prospects from the 1936 frosh, the Phoenix must be definitely established as one of the teams to beat.

Playing a league schedule of 15 games they will face the 1936 Champion Trojans, who have their crack pitcher, Joe Gonzales, ready for his final season. Since it was Joe who last year won two out of the three game Trojan-Phoenix series, enabling his team to nose out the Phoenix for the championship, his presence in the Trojan lineup means a very tough afternoon for any ball club—college or professional.

U. C. L. A., third place winner in 1936, is expected to come up with another strong team. The Phoenix dropped one of their three games with the Bruins last year while making a clean sweep of the series with California, Stanford and Santa Clara.

Stanford reports the strongest team since 1931; California Bears, not as good as usual, and Santa Clara, clearly a dark horse with a load of J. C. talent lying in the weeds ready to knock off the Gaels at the first opportunity.

FEBRUARY 21st—The Broncos will get their long-awaited shot at the Phoenix at the Seals Stadium in San Francisco, Sunday afternoon, February 21. The starting time is 2:30 and the admission is 40 cents for adults, 10 cents for children.

Saint Mary's-Santa Clara contests, whether they be football, basketball or baseball, are always interesting, and this first of a three game series, which opens the Phoenix conference schedule, should prove no exception.

The Saint Mary's Club is sponsoring the game, and bringing it to San Francisco to afford its members, Alumni of Saint Mary's and friends of the college, an opportunity to see the Phoenix in action under ideal playing conditions. The Seals' Stadium will be a better proving ground than either of the schools' playing fields, in determining the winner, and much easier of access too—really the main reason for the club bringing the game to San Francisco.

Weather permitting, the meeting of these two old rivals should attract a banner crowd to the Seals' Stadium. And later in the season, if the contest is supported as it should be by every well-wisher of Saint Mary's, the Trojan and Stanford games will be played in San Francisco, at the same place.

So make the entry in your date book now. Saint Mary's vs. Santa Clara at the Seals' Stadium, 16th and Bryant Streets, San Francisco, Sunday afternoon, February 21, at 2:30 P. M.

BANQUET—The Fourth Annual Phoenix dinner was a success. Yes, indeed. Nearly one hundred last-minute requests for reservations had to be refused. The Press Club just couldn't accommodate the crowd that sought admittance.

The affair, as intended, attracted many friends of the Phoenix who were not members of the club. They were on the job, made reservations early and helped make the evening the success it was. To club members who neglected to make early reservations, and of necessity were denied admission, we offer this bit of advice: next time make YOUR reservations EARLY!!

There may be better speakers than General Paul B. Malone, but if so it has never been our privilege to hear them. Speaking before a group of men, absolute strangers to him, the General had the situation well in hand. When the genial cynic Ed R. Hughes wrote "and in a long career of listening to such things, seldom have I been so stirred," he summed up the thoughts of everyone present. And as Ed concludes, "he was in the Second division in the big war, so it is no wonder the Germans gave up." No wonder, is right!

Judge Joseph Kennedy handled the job of toastmaster in brilliant style. His give and take sallies with Judge Tom Foley and Supervisor Dewey Mead proved the politicos can do some fast thinking when they are put up to it.

Brother Albert made a fine speech. Earl Sheely introduced the members of the Phoenix. Slip, Red, Charlie Graham, Joe Bearwald made brief talks. Carl Schuck, Debate Manager, and Elias Welch, Editor of the Colegian represented the associated students. Many big fellows in the sports world were introduced. Bill Smith, Tom Foudy, Hugh Sill and Eddie Erdelatz were there. Andy Johnson had a big table reserved.

Miss Rue Shepard handled the entertainment, acting as mistress of ceremonies for the acts sent by several of San Francisco's leading night clubs.

College To Mark Centenary Of Birth Of Artist Kieth

Preliminary preparations for a proposed Keith celebration on the campus sometime during the year of 1938, were announced during the week.

The celebration will commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of the famous California painter, and will be under the direction of Brother Cornelius, head of the college art department and noted Keith authority. The exact date or length of the festivities has not as yet been determined, but will be around the first part of the month of May.

During the past few years since the year of 1931, the popularity of the noted artist has increased on the campus. In 1931, the first Keith celebration was held here at the college, and since that time, under the direction of Brother Cornelius, the campus has become known as one of the strongholds of the artist in his struggle for the recognition that his supporters say is his due.

At the present time, there are in the Keith Gallery in Galileo Hall over twenty-five Keith paintings, and these are being added to at various intervals. Beside the gallery, Keith has received much recognition in such books as the Moraga Quarterly, where many articles by Brother Cornelius and other art critics have appeared, from time to time throughout the past seven years.

"The Voice of Experience"... the man with the million dollar throat insists on a light smoke

"My voice is my career. It has inspired more than five million people to confide in me their personal problems. During 25 years, first on the lecture platform and then on the air, I have never missed a single engagement because of my throat. I am a steady smoker, and because my throat and voice are vital to my career I insist upon a light smoke. In Luckies I find a light smoke plus the enjoyment of fine tobacco ... and that's why Lucky Strikes have been my choice for 14 years."

"The Voice of Experience"

FRIEND AND COUNSELOR TO MILLIONS OF RADIO LISTENERS

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

"The Voice of Experience" verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.

Another Lent

TO A PERSON without any imagination, Lent signifies a period of tribulations, unnecessary for the most part, established by Mother Church as a yearly disciplinary measure for her wayward sons. It is a time of sacrifice, ostensibly dedicated to the God-man who suffered and died for the sins of mankind during this same period 2000 years ago. It is a season when the ordinary luxuries of life are dispensed with, and the simple pleasures in which man commonly indulges are discarded. It is fine discipline but poor living.

To a more imaginative person, there is a deeper meaning to Lent. The penances which man imposes on himself are but minor considerations in the face of vaster implications. Lent, properly speaking, is not essentially concerned with fasting, abstaining or the relinquishing of customary pleasures. Impositions of this sort are at best but negative manifestations of religion. They serve to impress less inteligent people with the significance of Lent, where an appeal to reason and the higher duties of religious worship would fall on barren soil. To a man with a deep background in his faith, the Lenten season is a season of retribution; a period when the processes of salvation have an earthly application, when the forty days of Christ's preparation for the Way of the Cross are relived in all their enternal significance to mankind, and puny man reflects on the added burdens he has heaped upon Christ's cross of sacrifice.

Lent is, then—and rightly should be—the most critical Church season of the year. The conscientious Catholic, fulfilling the duties of his religion, is confronted in Lent with the apparition of his past difficulties, and comes to a more serious realization of the course his life is taking. He need not accept Lent in the sense of its being a gloomy period of puritanical restraint — for that is not its essential character—but he should at least appreciate its portent and observe it in the serious vein which it merits.

Theater Site

SAINT Mary's College is at last to have a theater. It has been needed for a long time, and will be appreciated greatly by those who will benefit by it. The new theater will be used for commencement exercises, student productions, assemblies, and will bring the students more closely together in their activities. The students, faculty and friends of the college will all gain much good from such an addition.

At present a contest is being conducted on the campus to select a suitable site for the new theater. It is essential that the site chosen be suitable, and it is essential that the site chosen must be the best available. The students can make that possible by contributing their ideas for it. A wide variety will insure a better selection, and it is up to the student body to make a good selection possible.

The contest is open to all students of the college, and three prizes have been offered for the three best suggestions. Each student should feel that, since the theater will be for his benefit personally, he should take part in the selection. If you have an idea, put it on paper and hand it in; if you haven't an idea, go out and get one. There are a variety of locations from which to choose, and the task of setting down the good points of one of them is not beyond the powers of any student. All are urged to take part in this contest in order to insure a suitable selection.

Since the theater has been assured by the senior class, it is up to the students to do their part. Each can do this by submitting an idea for the site, thereby facilitating the work of the judges and committee. Land your support—and do it now!

Universal Saint Mary's Night

WHEN the Alumni Association of the college presents its annual Universal Saint Mary's Night next Thursday, they will present a program which attracts more than casual attention and develops more than ordinary interest. It is in itself a homecoming, separate and distinct from the affair on the campus, for it accomplishes the same purpose and is for hundreds of alumni the only homecoming in which they can participate because of the distance from the college and because of other factors.

Consistently the hour has been of the highest type of entertainment and benefit both to those associated in some way with the college and those who have no connection with it. It brings a more than fleeting unity between the alumni, and does much to favorably publicize the college and her manifold activities.

For all of us, there is something in the program which will be of real value and significance. The half-hour spent listening to the program certainly will not be wasted.

Junior Prom

APPROXIMATELY 150 couples last week attended one of the most successful Junior Proms the college has seen. It was not successful because many attended, or because the arrangements were complete in every detail. These contributed to the success of the affair, but an even greater factor was the spirit in which it was done. It was evidenced in the order, plan, and conduct of this year's Prom.

The class of 1938 has been outstanding for its spirit of cooperation and for its ability to conduct affairs of this sort in a manner which reflects credit not only upon themselves, but upon the college, too. The Prom this year was one of which the entire college, as well as the Junior Class, may well be proud. It was conducted in a manner that brought much favorable comment to the class.

Too often affairs of this type can be mismanaged, and the evening's entertainment spoiled by the actions of a few. No such element was allowed to enter into the Prom this year. Those that attended appreciated that fact, and the entire college appreciates the fact that the Junior Class knows how such things should be done. The Collegian expresses its congratulations to the class of 1938—the class is deserving of highest praise.

Abraham Lincoln

TODAY, three-quarters of a century after Lincoln's death, almost every schoolchild knows by heart the words he said the world would "little note nor long remember"—the words he spoke at Gettysburg:

"Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure. . ."

But Lincoln's stature rises not alone from the greatness of his deeds. It was something deeper that has given him a place unshared by other great men in our history.

He was "of the people." He was the man who split rails and cleared his own land, who carried farm produce to New Orleans and sold it, who at one time operated a ferry boat across the Ohio river, and who kept a general store at New Salem, Illinois.

We shall never forget that he saved the nation. But his humility, his humaneness, his wit and sense of humor, his rugged earthly quality—these have made his name a symbol of the soul of America. And these are the things about him which America is remembering now, on the one hundred and twenty-eighth anniversary of Lincoln's birth.

Moraga Musings

The Muser's contempt goes this week to the guys that patronized the Parilia instead of their own Prom.

* * * *

Although Madigan's secretary denied it, Flipper Jenkins avers that the bandage around Henning's head was Saint Mary's only casualty at the artist's ball. Jack's naive story is that while "disgustingly sober" he fell at home.

Kenny's story of falling out of the rumble seat is naive, too.

OUTLOOKS & INSIGHTS

By BROTHER LEO

LINCOLN AND RELIGION

Abraham Lincoln did not belong to any church organization, but he was far from being either an atheist or an agnostic. He believed in God. Though he neglected to think out his belief consistently and logically, he recognized the existence of a spiritual order and the wisdom of prayer. On his monument in Springfield are some words from the good-bye he uttered to his neighbors and friends gathered in the station to see him off for his inauguration as President of the United States:

Brother Leo

"Trusting in Him who can go with me and remain with you and be everywhere for good, let us confidently hope that all will yet be well . . . To His care commending you, as I hope in your prayers you will commend me, I bid you an affectionate farewell."

He found plenty of troubles awaiting him in Washington. Two years later, with the Civil War raging and the cause of the nation seriously imperiled, he urged upon the country a day of fasting and prayer. It was on that occasion that he made the most distinctively religious appeal ever formulated by a President:

"We have forgotten God. We have forgotten the gracious hand which preserved us in peace, and multiplied, enriched and strengthened us; and we have vainly imagined, in the deceitfulness of our hearts, that all these blessings have been produced by some superior wisdom and virtue of our own. Intoxicated with unbroken success, we have been too self-sufficient to feel the necessity of redeeming and preserving grace, too proud to pray to the God that made us. It behooves us, then, to humble ourselves . . . to confess our national sins, and to pray for clemency and forgiveness."

A great man, Abraham Lincoln was greatest in his humility.

EDUCATORS

The eminent Irish scientist of the seventeenth century Robert Boyle—the same upon whose tombstone in St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, is inscribed the diverting epitaph, "The Father of Chemistry and the Uncle of the Earl of Cork"—paid a high tribute to his preceptor, Sir Henry Wotton, when he said that Wotton was a gentleman who made gentlemen.

Think you not that the standard of education would rise appreciably if the same thing could be said of every man in this country who in some way or other concerns himself with teaching? And is there under the sun any sight at once so ludicrous and so pathetic as that of a man who is not a gentleman striving to make gentlemen of his students?

PORTRAIT OF A SAINT

There is no reason why a good monk should not be also a good artist, and the devout Dominican known to the world as Fra Angelico is proof that sanctity and artistic talent can run happily together. But many of the saints were not artists or poets either, and sometimes in a religious order we meet with a holy monk who cannot paint—but who thinks he can.

Just such a man, named Brother Juan de la Miseria, lived in a Carmelite monastery in Spain four hundred years ago. He took himself seriously as an artist, though his gifts in that direction were not great. Once he induced a very distinguished lady, Mother Teresa of Jesus, to sit for a portrait. She was willing to comply with his desire, and waited patiently enough for the result. But when she beheld the completed picture, she threw up her hands and cried, "May God forgive you, Brother Juan, for making me so ugly!"

Thought for the Week

"All great art leaves unsaid more than it expresses, and its influence is in proportion to its power of suggesting or evoking the unsaid things."—Brother Azarias.

The Bystander

By FRANK MARTIN

A lot of comment has been heard lately concerning the stirring musicale which Angelo A. Fusco's Salesian Boys' Club presented on the stage of North Beach's Milano Theater. Unfortunately, I was unable to attend the program myself—(an, the things I've been missing lately)—but according to some of our abler critics, Angelo A.'s presentation reached artistic heights hitherto unknown to North Beach.

Inasmuch as several more or less prominent members of our local citizenry perform for Mr. Fusco's troupe, it seems only fitting that we mention the show. According to Edward Ethelbert Nevin and John Valentini, Mutt and Jeff twins of third floor dorm, the program definitely had moments of high inspiration. When the particular high moments occurred is a question that has not yet been settled.

The consensus has it that the brightest moments of the show were those in which the Saint Mary's contingent did not appear. Why this was so, I hesitate to say! I always thought our local colony of Gauls was replete with talent, but here again Nevin and Valentini, supplemented by John Soares and genial Ed Smiddy, reply emphatically to the contrary.

Billed as Saint Mary's entrant from California's Hour, Joe L. Alioto disappointed the twelve hundred and two enthusiastic Mussolinites who jammed the theater and expected a tenor solo from the dynamic pipes of our Joe. Instead of a vocal rendition, Joe essayed an imitation of Yehudi Menuhin playing a Stradivarius at a symphony concert, and fell short by two inches of having hair long enough for the role. Of the other campus representative, Jo-Jo Alioto was decidely not in voice and did not participate in the program. Lawrence Mana played the role of a stage manager, and from all reports enacted the part beautifully. According to Soares, sand bags were falling in the most appropriate places which is a true indication of a stage manager's ability.

On the whole, the program must have been excellent. Monitor critic Edward Smiddy who is usually as hard to impress as a city editor on a metropolitan daily positively waxed enthusiastic over Fusco's proteges. I imagine his review of the Musicale in this week's Monitor will speak for itself. Earlier in the week, Mr. Smiddy remarked that a timely garter would have saved the show, but I don't imagine the drooping sock mattered to the extent he jocularly implied.

CALLING CARD

The people in the hot country of India have a considerable weakness for titles, degrees, and other forms of personal academic embellishments, related Dr. John Scudder, at Rutgers. To illustrate, the professor told about receiving a calling card from a man in Calcutta, who had been flunked out of college. In the lower corner of the card was printed: "Failed, A. B."

ORCHESTRAS

To Ed Tracy, demon fan of any and all orchestras, the following is dedicated: "While Stolling along Fletcher avenue I met an un-Kemped fellow Waring a Green hat, who Shep-posing I was a Goodman asked me for a Light. Being a right Guy I treated him as I would a King and obliged by Shaw-ing him to a Garber shop and getting him a shave and Isham-poo, after which he felt like a Newman and thanked me Noble-ly."—We filched it from the Tomahawk.

AIRMAIL

According to the Foghorn, USF, a student at Stanford, who resided in the City of Palo Alto, Hoover's Hangout, received a notice that if he did not pay certain fees to the accounting department by that afternoon, he would receive a $2 fine. So our young hero made his check payable to Stanford University and sent it out by air mail from the city just a half mile away. On the envelope, the P. O. stamped: "Sent by truck to facilitate delivery."

MARQUETTE MIRACLES

According to the Marquette Tribune:

The wagon maker who had been dumb for years picked up a hub and spoke.

The blind carpenter reached out for a plane and saw.

The deaf sheep rancher went out with his dogs and herd.

The noseless fisherman caught a netful of herring and smelt.

FIRST ONE JOKE

"What do you sell?"

"Salt."

"I'm a salt seller, too!"

"Shake."

. . . AND THEN ANOTHER

Student: "Say, professor, are we supposed to copy the questions?'

Voice from rear: "No, you sap, just the answers."

SUCCESS

Now that Lent is here the following might be a helpful suggestion: A physician advised a student at Chicago U to substitute food every time he felt the urge to drink. A short time later the student ran into a restaurant and yelled. "Say, there's a dead man lying in the street—for gosh sakes, give me a plate of ham and eggs." Find your own moral.

ABOUT SAINTS

The Marquette Tribune brings to light a few fact about several saints that we didn't know till now: The first honored saint in Japan were Sts. Paul Miki, John de Goto and James Kisai. They were martyred with 23 companions at Nagasaki by crucifixtion . . . One of the most lovable saints the world has ever known was St. Stanislaus Kostka who died in 1568 at the age of 18. Kostka is the patron of novices and youngest of the Society of Jesus to be canonized . . . The patron of acolytes, St. John Berchmans,)1599-1621) adhered to the rules of the society of Jesus merely through love for the order . . . St. Alphonsus Rodriguez, lay brother of the Society of Jesus, inspired St. Peter Claver to perform heroic labors among the negroes of South America. Alphonsus died at the age of 85 in 1617.

CULLINGS

Approximately 97 per cent of the college presidents have come from professions of teaching and ministry . . . For two full years, 1917-1918, not a Virginia Poly casaba tosser was ejected from any game for personal fouls . . . Margaret Potts of Ventura Junior College can take dictation at the rate of 200 words a minute for five consecutive minutes . . . A telephone pole never hits a car except in self-defense . . . First dope: "Is Izzie a good business man?" Second Fog-brain: "Izzie? You should ask me that? Ven he plays golf he always hollers 'Three ninety-eight' instead of 'fore'."
